THE "BLUE BOOK" has its origin in the address book of the Woman of Fashion, and the list of desirable names which the man of business keeps for his own reference. Both classes are called upon to make constant revisions and additions to keep these lists up to date.

This exacting personal duty has been carefully performed in Mrs. Devereux's Blue Book, which the publishers have now the pleasure of presenting to its subscribers and the public, confident that it will be found equally indispensable to the Woman of Fashion and the man of affairs.

Even with the greatest care, and every facility errors of omission and commission will inevitably creep in to such a compilation, and it must be attributed rather to the difficulty of obtaining information than to any deliberate intention to exclude.

The Editor hopes the book will meet the expectation of the large number who have encouraged its publication, and that it will prove valuable as a reference, useful as a guide and interesting as a social souvenir.

THE EDITOR.

All new and desirable improvements always are to be found in

The EVERETT PIANO.

The latest feature is an attachment by means of which a mandolin sound or effect is produced. It is called the

Plectra=phone.

The many piano performers who are naturally fond of music of the mandolin, but who may be unable to perform upon this instrument, will find in the Plectra-phone not only a satisfactory substitute for the mandolin, but one which is far greater in resources and with which it is easily possible to produce harmonies and other effects totally out of reach of the instrument above named. So striking is the effect produced by the sudden transition from the beautiful PIANO tone to the entrancing and characteristic ensemble of an entire mandolin orchestra, that one hearing without seeing the instrument would never associate this character of tone with that of a piano—so great is the contrast, so correct the imitation, so completely is the piano tone transformed.

The John Church Company,

Chicago, Ills.

Cincinnati, O.

We are prepared to exchange an Everett Piano containing the Plectra-phone on pianos of other makes. The Plectra-phone can be added to any Upright Everett Piano.

INDEX TO PORTRAITS.

THE ladies whose portraits grace this volume, and give to it an ever increasing value as a souvenir, are representative of the higher life of Cincinnati Society. They have been selected as being essentially representative, and the word or two of comment which follows might well be amplified to fill pages and still leave much unsaid.

MRS. MARY T. ARMOR (opposite page 13) is a daughter of the late Emanuel Miller, of Clifton. She is a society woman of the highest type, and has been identified with many movements tending to the elevation of humanity. Her work in the Humane Society and S. P. C. A., has been a labor of love that has been richly rewarded in results attained.

Mrs. Armor is a woman whose bearing combines a certain stateliness and grace, which makes her a distinguished figure in any company.

MRS. W. W. ANDREWS (opposite page 29) is one of the gracious matrons of Society, and the centre of a devoted home circle. The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, on Main Avenue, Avondale, is a favorite rendezvous for old and young. Mrs. Andrews is actively interested in philanthropic work. She was one of the founders of the Home for incurables, and is a lady manager of the Home of the Friendless.

MRS. OLIVE STONE AVERY (opposite page 35) has been for many years Society Editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, and has done excellent work in this connection. Her amiability and kindness of heart have endeared her to a wide circle of friends.

MRS. M. W. CURWEN (opposite page 42) belongs to the old aristocracy of Cincinnati, and is its foremost literary woman in a creative way. Her lectures and talks on current and literary topics show a mind of the rarest quality, and few men possess equal powers of analysis and concentration. A woman like a dew-drop in her purity and delicacy, she can handle any subject of current thought with the incision of a statesman, and the finesse of a diplomat. Her drawing-room "Talks" are the literary feature of the Season's pleasures.

MRS. C. A. R. DEVEREUX (opposite page 49) is the wife of General Arthur F. Devereux, an officer of distinction in the late civil war. Mrs. Devereux has been identified with newspaper work in Cincinnati for the past twenty years, and needs no introduction to the "Blue Book" world.

MRS. E. P. FOSTER (opposite page 55) is the wife of Mr. Foster, editor of "The Cincinnati," the organ of the working men. Mrs. Foster is an able assistant to her husband in his newspaper work.

MRS. T. L. A. GREVE (opposite page 62) is the wife of Dr. Greve, and a daughter of the late Elwood Fisher, one of the most brilliant literateurs and elegant gentlemen of his day. Mrs. Greve is an active member of the Historical Society, and comes of a very distinguished ancestry. She is historian of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She has inherited a full share of her fathers' brilliant intellect, and is a frequent contributor to current literature.

MRS. A. HOWARD HINKLE (opposite page 69) is the wife of one of Cincinnati's most prominent and liberal citizens, and a daughter of Mr. Wm. Henry Davis, one of the city's pioneer merchants. Mrs. Hinkle is Ohio Regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and a queenly presiding officer. She is also president of the Free Training School for Nurses, and a liberal donor to many charities.

MISS M. LOUISE McLAUGHLIN (opposite page 75) is an artist and literateur, whose name is known the country over. To her quick insight and skillful fingers, the world is indebted for the re-discovery of the secret of the old potters of Limoges. Her work, whether in clay, color, metal or book-making, is always original and of the highest artistic value. She is President of the Pottery Club, whose work won honors at Philadelphia, and the World's Columbian. Miss McLaughlin devotes her life to artistic work. Her recreation is Archery, and she is a champion in this noble sport.

MRS. ALEXANDER McDONALD (opposite page 82) is constantly associated with works of charity and benevolence, and she seems to find in these duties a happiness as great as in dispensing the splendid hospitalities of Dalvey. As lady manager of the Widows' Home, and President of the Presbyterian Hospital and Woman's Medical College, she has shown marked administrative qualities.

MRS. LAWRENCE MAXWELL, JR. (opposite page 89), wife of one of Cincinnati's most brilliant lawyers, and the Solicitor General of the United States, is a woman of noble presence, quite unspoiled by the adulation which her beauty and radiant spirits constantly inspire. "None know her but to love her, none name her but to praise." The Maxwells' home in Dupont Circle is conceded to be one of the most agreeable of the "administration" houses at the National Capitol, and one of the most hospitable.

MRS. CHARLES LEE MILLS (opposite page 95) is the wife of Mr. Charles Lee Mills, who inherited a large estate from his father. They have a superb place on the East Hill, where Mrs. Mills dispenses a lavish and constant hospitality when they are not on the Continent, or wintering in Florida, or summering by the sea.

MRS. JAMES ERSKINE NEAL, of Hamilton (opposite page 101), is the wife of Colonel Neal, Consul General of the United States to Liverpool. She is a woman of great beauty and brilliant wit. These qualities have given her an enviable place in the galaxy of American women in English Society, and made the entrée of the Neals' official set much sought after in Liverpool.

MRS. STORER—MARIA LONGWORTH—(opposite page 107), is the wife of Hon. Bellamy Storer, representative of Ohio in the Lower House. Mrs. Storer is a woman of genius, and her sex has not to any great extent clipped her wings. She founded Rookwood Pottery a decade ago, and Rookwood is to-day as well known in the cabinets of collectors as Spode or Sévres. In Washington, as in Cincinnati, Mrs. Storer's home is the rendezvous of the world of wit and wisdom—travelers, authors, artists, statesmen and diplomats all find a welcome. To be doing or to have done something is the open sesame of Mrs. Storer's interest.

MRS. O. J. WILSON, (opposite page 115), wife of Mr. O. J. Wilson of Clifton, is mistress of "Sweet Home," one of the most ideal of any of Clifton's baronial estates. Mrs. Wilson is a woman who has always been surrounded by the most elevating influences, and her lovely Christian Character is evidenced in every act and impulse of her life. Mrs. Wilson has been for many years a lady manager of the Widows' Home and chairman of its most important committee. "Sweet Home" is the centre of a constant and quiet hospitality, and to know thoroughly its treasures of pictures and objects d'art, collected by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson during a residence abroad of many years, is a liberal education in itself.
